

MEET THE ANIMALS IN YOUR 2018 'RESCUED!' CALENDAR

Every animal we rescue, rehabilitate and re-home has a unique story about how they came into our care – whether they were abandoned, abused or neglected, all animals get a second chance at finding happiness with their forever family. Without support from our donors, sponsors and partners we can't continue this life changing work. Please donate today – give a voice to those who cannot speak for themselves.

Bella & Lacey came into our care through the HBSPCA Protections Department as part of a group of 27 mixed/Siamese cats that were living at one address. All the cats were being fed regularly and there was a well-organized litterbox cleaning and grooming schedule, but the number of cats at one residence had become unmanageable. This is the perfect example of why spaying/neutering pets is the best way to help them live a happy, healthy life. HBSPCA agents rescued all the cats, who were then assessed by a team of vets at the Companion Animal Hospital. Bella & Lacey had a few quirks, like many of the others in their group, likely due to some degree of inbreeding – Bella's head permanently tilts to the left a bit and Lacey's eyes are crossed. Neither condition has any long term implications for their health; there is no special medication required and they will both live as long as any other regular cat. This pair were bonded together, as were many from the group, and needed a bit of extra attention to get them to come out of their shells. It didn't take long for the right adopter to step up and commit to this adorable pair – it can be a challenge to adopt out a bonded pair, especially if they're shy or they look a little different than the average kitty. Thankfully, this pair's stay at the shelter was pretty brief and it didn't take them long to settle into their forever home together. Their happily ever after is all about playing together, napping together, cuddling together and bringing two times the amount of joy to their adopters.
